2014 Teen Entrepreneurial Summer Boot Camp

The North Carolina Cooperative Extension Community & Rural Development Programs in Edgecombe and Nash county will host the 2nd Annual Teen Entrepreneurial Summer Boot Camp for teens ages 15 - 18 during the weeks of July 14 through July 24.

This program is available for thirty local students. Participants will have the opportunity to explore entrepreneurship by understanding the entrepreneurial process. Students will analyze their community, identify unmet opportunities for providing products or services, research, and write a business plan for the enterprise they choose. They will present a final presentations in front of a panel of local leaders.

With this boot camp youth will not only learn about entrepreneurship, but they will take away skills such as, community scanning, business economic planning, along with presentation skills. This interactive camp can help prepare the youth for whatever they focus on in the future including choosing a college, focusing their career path and interviewing.

Topics Covered

- Introduction to entrepreneurship
- Small business ideas
- Working with different personalities
- How to acquire funding help for small businesses
- Creating a business plan
- Business pitch & presentation skills
- Local small business resources
- And much more!
